GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend the Hindu Law relating to inheritance from inheritance of certain classes of heirs and to remove certain doubts was presented to the Legislative Assembly on the 14th March, 1921:—

1. The undersigned, members of the Select Committee, to whom the Bill is referred, the Hindu Law relating to inheritance from inheritance of certain classes of heirs and to remove certain doubts was referred, have considered the Bill and the paper noted in the margin and have now the honor to submit their report, with the Bill as amended by us, to the Assembly.

2. Clause 1.—We consider that the short title of the Bill is not very suitable, in view of the fact that the object of the Bill is to remove certain doubts which at present exist as to the operation of the Act. We have therefore altered it.

We think that no reason exists for postponing the date at which the Act would actually come into force. We have accordingly omitted the corresponding clause.

Further, we are of opinion that the Presidency of Bengal should be excluded from the operation of the Act. We have accordingly re-drafted sub-clause (2) [now sub-clause (1)] of the clause with a view to extending the provisions of the Bill throughout British India.

3. Clause 2.—We have considered all the different cases of persons who are excluded under the Hindu Law by reason of disease, deformity or physical or mental defect and we have decided, unanimously to exclude persons and impotent persons, and by a majority in the other cases, that no person should be excluded from inheritance or co-partnership unless he is a lunatic, insane or idiot. At the same time, we are of opinion that the present rules of Hindu Law should continue to apply in the case of persons who are not of sound mind at the time of their death. We have accordingly altered the clause accordingly and have also made it clear that the Bill is not intended to affect any vested rights.

arbitrary and I would therefore recommend the Bill for further consideration by the Select Committee, in far as it goes in enabling persons born blind and deaf to be treated with the widest liberty, law and I therefore subscribe to the report. I wish to have an opportunity of further considering the other cases and I should like the Select Committee should take in the substance of types. Persons who are blind and deaf who are well versed in English before finally deciding the question. For these reasons, I would have the Bill recommended to the Select Committee. Speaking for myself, I am not satisfied that I have been able to give that attention to the important question which is discussed. This is a matter for the House of Commons of the Assembly to decide. Persons who are not blind and deaf by the proposed measure would be unable to take care of the property and there is no law at present under which their property can be taken care of. The property of persons except in the case of lunatics. At the last meeting the Committee made a recommendation that the Government should be asked to consider the desirability of bringing in legislation for the purpose. Definite lines of action might also be recommended or adopted in case the Select Committee was to recommend the proposition. There are also other questions as to which there is a conflict of evidence which have not been touched by the Bill—vide paragraph 303, Major's Hindi Law.

I sign this report subject to my dissent that legacy is to continue as a disability to inheritance upon the fact that an ex person of sound mind at the time when the succession opens.

J. CHANDRAN.

I am of opinion that it is desirable in the interests of such persons (blind, deaf and dumb or suffering from legacy) who were so far disqualified from inheritance as to be unable to properly take care of their property, that they should have a limited right of alienation of their rights, interest or share in property which they would be entitled to inherit or succeed to, after the Bill is passed. Some provision must be made on the lines of the Statute of the Central Provinces and Berar, Act of 1914, which would vest in the person entitled to a legacy or share in property the right of alienating any share of immovable property in the hands of such persons should be added to this Bill. Such persons must not be expected to be capable of managing their property in a proper way, and must not be expected to be capable of taking advantage of their bodily defects, nor particularly not them of their property and dispose them of their assets of future acquisitions. I think it necessary therefore that some protection be given to persons, whose disqualification to inheritance or succession is to be removed under this Bill. We would otherwise fall in the way of subject for which we are entering this law. Under the present law with a disqualified person is at least sure of maintenance for his whole life which otherwise Bill is passed they would be deprived of what once they have not the property in their own right by inheritance, purchase or succession and have wasted as passed with it. In such cases they would not in all likelihood get any maintenance from his or powers or relations and will have to face starvation and misery. I would therefore very much prefer to give them an additional protection, like the one suggested above.

The 24th March 1923.

K. R. L. ANANDHAR.

I sign this report subject to my vote of dissent. While I agree that persons suffering from disqualification require greater help and support, I would not give them the benefit of property. Such persons are entitled to maintenance only. I am prepared to give them by way of maintenance the same right as are at present enjoyed by Hindu widows, in life estate. I suggest that the following persons be added to clause 3 of the Bill, viz.:-

"Provided that no such person shall be entitled to transfer any such property except for legal necessity and the disqualification shall not extend to such person who has any right to claim portion of joint family property till such period."

[AS AMENDED BY THE SELECT COMMITTEE.]

(Words printed in italics indicate the amendments suggested by the Committee.)

A Bill to amend the Hindu Law relating to succession from inheritance of certain classes of persons, and to remove certain disabilities.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the Hindu Law relating to succession from inheritance of certain classes of heirs, and to remove certain disabilities; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title and extent. 1. (1) This Act may be called the Hindu Inheritance (Removal of Disabilities) Act, 1923.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India, including British India and the British Possessions.

4. Notwithstanding any rule of Hindu Law in contrary, no person governed by the Hindu Law, who dies a person who is not a Hindu, shall be entitled from inheritance or from any right or share in joint family property by reason only of any blood, relationship, or physical or marital descent.
5. Nothing contained in this Act shall affect any right which has accrued or any liability which has been incurred before the commencement thereof, or shall be deemed to confer upon any person any right or to put in any religious office or service or of the management of any religious or charitable trust which he would not have had if this Act had not been passed.

The following Report of the Select Committee on the Bill further to amend the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1894, was presented to the Legislative Assembly on the 10th March 1922—

- We, the undersigned, Members of the Select Committee to which the Bill further to amend the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1894, was referred, have considered the Bill and the papers referred to in the margin, and have now the honour to submit this our Report, with the Bill as amended by us annexed thereto.

1. We observe that the Bill as drafted does not differentiate between a magistrate holding a certificate under the Legal Practitioners Act, 1878, and a person belonging to the class commonly called "magistrates" who practice with the permission of the Court in Bombay and other places as the same holding as an ordinary lawyer permitted by the Court to act in a proceeding. We think it essential to make it clear that the Bill is only intended in order to properly differentiate magistrates and persons to assist this by inserting the words "or a magistrate" after the words "magistrate" in section 4 (1) of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1894, and by inserting the words "magistrate" in sub-section (f) of clause (f).

Under sections 4 and 7 of the Legal Practitioners Act, 1878, the High Court will now have to decide, as we believe it already does in most Provinces, the parties to be admitted to practice in which each magistrate shall be entitled to practice. In regard to certificates which are in form when the Bill becomes law, we realize that it will not be possible in Provinces where no differentiation has been made in the past between magistrates and ordinary practitioners to use of the Bill in the manner shown in the case of those with inferior qualifications. On the other hand, if the Bill is passed, which a magistrate has been granted, it will be possible for the High Court in such a Province to designate a system of differentiation under the second paragraph of section 7 of the Legal Practitioners Act, 1878.

We observe that when this Bill becomes law, the words "any person subject to the Code of Criminal Procedure", in section 4 of the Legal Practitioners Act, 1878, will become ambiguous. We have, in addition to the alteration above suggested, made some party drafting alterations in the Bill as shown in clause 1.

MINUTE OF DECISION.

Though I support the principle of the Bill, I am actively opposed to it as amended by the Select Committee. Marriages under this Bill, if passed, will make parties to them more numerous than they become under the law as it stands at present. I also think that the Bill as now put forward ought to be republished.

Dated the 14th March 1925.

modification of the Bill as introduced imposes upon the District Officer, and we agree that the administration of the measure, even on the reduced scale which we now propose, could not be expected upon that effect.

In the second place, we consider that the difficulties attending the question of the appointment and maintenance of District and Control Committees made it undesirable to retain the provisions of Chapter III and other provisions of the Bill consequential thereon. We consider that the appointment of such Committees by the Government might give rise to considerable misunderstanding and in some cases lead to discontent. At the same time, we are of opinion that the labour and expense of conducting the elections in such Committees on anything like a representative basis would go far to offset the utility of the proposed measure.

We further observe that some of the provisions of the Bill impinge to a serious extent the provisions of existing enactments.

After full consideration of the whole question, we have decided that the Bill should make provision only for the compulsory condition, as soon as possible after the commencement of the Act, of full particulars regarding such waik, and thereafter of annual statements of accounts.

Other matters which call for special comment are dealt with in our remarks on the clauses of the Bill as re-drafted by us.

Clause 2.—As the subject-matter of the Bill is a provincial transferred subject under the Devolution Rules, we think it essential to give to each local Government the power of deciding whether, and at what time, and in what place, provision is to be given to the Waik.

Clause 3.—The Court as defined in this clause will, except in the Presidency towns and Bangalore, be identical with the Court empowered to take notice under the Charitable and Religious Trusts Act, 1850.

We considered very carefully the cases of the waik to which the Act should be applicable and decided to exclude private waik of the nature described in section 3 of the Mussalman Waik Validating Act, 1914, so long as any waik, other than the endowments of a mosque or such, remains absolutely dormant by the founder of the waik or any of his family or descendants. No doubt there will be some cases in which such waik should only a small portion of the income of the waik. Nevertheless, it is in our opinion impossible to draw any satisfactory distinction between these and other cases and we are so alternative to the provision which we have accordingly made.

Clause 4.—This clause follows closely clause 4 of the original Bill with the addition of a provision that a copy of the deed or instrument of endow, when such is authentic, full particulars of the origin of the waik shall be furnished, together with certain additional consequential on our decision as to the nature of waik to be included within the scope of the Bill.

Clause 5.—We have provided in this clause for a temporary annual audit which, in the case of waik with no income exceeding two thousand rupees per annum, is to be carried out by a properly certified auditor and in other cases by a person authorized in this behalf by the Court. We realize it would be impossible in the case of the less highly endowed waik to engage an audit, the cost of which might be somewhat disproportionate to the actual income.

Clause 7, 8 and 9, respectively, enable the trustees to take to the waik funds proper sums incurred in carrying out the provisions of the Act, require the verification of all statements, and provide for the granting of inspection and copies to the public of statements furnished under the Act.

Clause 10.—This clause provides a penalty for failure on the part of a trustee to comply with the provisions of the Act and includes provision for an enhanced penalty in the case of a second or subsequent offence.

Clause 11.—We have in this clause made due note a provision on the lines of section 3 of the Charitable and Religious Trusts Act, 1850, so we do not think it necessary that the Act should be applied in the case of waik, the proper management of which is already adequately guaranteed.

3. The other provisions of the Bill do not, in our opinion, call for special comment.

4. The Bill was published in the Gazette of India, dated the 1st October 1911.

5. Although the Bill as re-drafted by us differs considerably from the Bill as introduced, the scope of the latter has been greatly narrowed and such amendments as we have made in the previous, the substance of which have been retained, are not of a far-reaching nature. We therefore, do not think that the re-publication of the Bill is necessary, and we recommended that it be passed as now amended.

Notes on Contributors

I am sorry, I have to differ from the opinion of the majority with regard to their proposing under clause 6 of the Bill a conspiracy model of the statement of elements before any submission by the materials in the Court in which the trial is regulated.

The mosque annually recurring visit charges and this will be strongly objected to by the natives as well as the Mohammedan priests. In my opinion if the Mohammedans interested in the work be disenchanted with the statements of American clerical impostors, they may petition the District Judge to get the amounts settled at the cost of the work solely concerned.
